

Trojan Fund Europe

Fund Information Sheet

The investment objective of the Trojan Fund Europe (the "Fund") is to seek to achieve growth in capital (net of fees), over the longer term (5 to 7 years). This Fund has been modelled at launch (2025) on the Trojan Fund (Ireland), which is sterling based. In contrast, the Trojan Fund Europe will have a Euro base currency. The Fund has flexibility to invest globally in government and public securities (such as sovereign debt and treasury bills), corporate bonds, equities and equity-related securities, private equity, precious metals (indirectly), cash, cash equivalents and deposits.

Investment Style and Approach

The objective of the Trojan Fund Europe is to protect and grow our investors' capital in real terms over the long term. We will aim to achieve this through cautious, dynamic asset allocation based on our view of equity valuations and the careful selection of high-quality securities. Emphasising capital preservation and absolute returns, the Fund will be conservatively managed, with concentrated holdings and low turnover. The Fund is long-only and has the flexibility to invest across a broad range of asset classes.

The core of the portfolio will be liquid developed market equities, where the team invest in quality businesses for the long-term when valuations are attractive. Other asset classes will be selected on the basis of:

- Risk diversification (e.g., gold-related investments and government bonds);
- Safety and optionality (e.g., short-dated EUR government bonds, Japanese government bonds, and cash);
- Inflation protection (e.g., index-linked government bonds and gold-related investments);

Whilst asset allocation will vary, in general, the investment universe will comprise high quality, developed market equities, developed market government bonds, gold-related investments, cash and money market instruments. We judge the safety and attractiveness of asset classes not just relative to each other, but also relative to their own histories. When allocating the Fund's assets, we will incorporate valuation measures, our own inflation expectations, and our understanding of monetary and fiscal conditions into our decision-making process from both a top-down perspective (looking at an economy as a whole) and a stock-specific perspective. The allocation to these diversifying asset classes increases at times of elevated equity valuations or uncertainty. In each of these asset classes, we seek the highest quality securities. We avoid:

- Investments we can't understand
- Investments where we consider liquidity to be a risk (e.g. corporate credit)
- Unnecessary complexity
- Using derivatives to "go short" or hedge exposures (e.g. protective strategies), noting that the Fund may hedge some currency exposures

Currency exposure will be actively managed within the Fund from a risk management perspective. Currency views are long-term and strategic, not tactical, and Troy's approach has always been to look at the overall currency exposure and to manage currency risk accordingly.

Performance Profile

The Fund will tend to avoid cyclical and highly capital-intensive companies, in favour of those exhibiting more defensive characteristics. As a result of this, the Fund can be expected to have a low beta or sensitivity to market moves. Troy's investment style is such that while our performance may lag in strongly rising markets (often led by cyclical companies), we tend to perform well in falling markets. We believe that a portfolio that suffers fewer and less destructive drawdowns will be in a better position to compound returns over the long run.

Use of Benchmarks

The Fund is actively managed and has the discretion to invest in accordance with the Investment Policy with no need to adhere to any benchmarks.

Target Market and Distribution Strategy

The Trojan Fund Europe may be suitable for all eligible investors (be they retail clients, professional clients or eligible counterparties) who are seeking growth in capital over the longer term, by investing in global assets, with varying exposure to asset classes depending on the Investment Manager's appraisal of valuations and economic indicators. Financial experience is not considered a necessity, however, investors must understand that this is a product where capital is at risk and have the capacity to bear losses (possibly total) on their original investment, accepting risk to their capital. The Fund may be suitable as a component of a portfolio and for investors who are looking to set aside their capital for the long term (at least five years), though shares may be redeemed on a daily basis.

The risk and reward profile for each class of shares of the Fund is set out in the Key Investor Information Documents (KIID) for the Fund. Any investor should be willing to accept price fluctuations.

The Trojan Fund Europe is unlikely to be compatible with the requirements of an investor:

- with an income objective or who is looking for guaranteed income or return
- seeking full capital protection
- who does not have sufficient resources to bear any loss resulting from the investment
- who is not able to evaluate the risks and merits of the Fund
- looking to invest for a period of less than 5 years

It is expected that a distributor may consider the following to be appropriate channels for distribution of the Fund: execution only, with investment advice and discretionary portfolio management.

Key Risks

- Past performance is not a guide to future returns. Capital invested is at risk and the value of investments and any income from them may go down as well as up. There is no guarantee that the investment objective of the Fund will be achieved.
- The Fund is Euro denominated. The Fund may invest in non-European securities and therefore be exposed to currencies other than the Euro. The effects of changes in exchange rates may impact the value of investments and you may get back less than you invested.
- Changes in interest rates will affect the value of, and the interest earned from any bonds held by the Fund.
- This Fund can hold a limited number of investments. If one of these investments falls in value this can have a greater impact on the Fund's value than if it held a larger number of investments.
- Currency hedging arrangements may be used to reduce the risk of currency movements in the value of overseas investments (i.e. non euro denominated) held by the Fund.
- The Fund may use derivatives, including currency forwards and futures, for the purposes of Efficient Portfolio Management, including hedging.

Important Information

Trojan Fund (Ireland) and Trojan Fund Europe are entirely separate Funds with different investment policies, and their performance will therefore differ.

Before investing, you should read the relevant KIID for the share class you are interested in investing in and the prospectus, each of which can be obtained from our website at www.taml.co.uk or from the Fund's registered office. If you are in any doubt about whether or not an investment in the Fund is suitable for you, you should seek professional advice before investing. Trojan Asset Management Limited is not able to provide investment advice.

Disclaimer

Please refer to Troy's Glossary of Investment terms here. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. Overseas investments may be affected by movements in currency exchange rates. The value of an investment and any income from it may fall as well as rise and investors may get back less than they invested. Tax legislation and the levels of relief from taxation can change at any time. Any change in the tax status of a Fund or in tax legislation could affect the value of the investments held by the Fund or its ability to provide returns to its investors. The tax treatment of an investment, and any dividends received, will depend on the individual circumstances of the investor and may be subject to change in the future. Any objective will be treated as a target only and should not be considered as an assurance or guarantee of performance of the Fund or any part of it. The Fund may use currency forward derivatives for the purpose of efficient portfolio management.
