March Commentary

Your Fund returned -6.8% during the month compared to -6.7% for the FTSE All-Share Index TR.

March was dominated by the outbreak of conflict in the Middle East, which damaged energy infrastructure in the region and effectively closed the Strait of Hormuz, sending Brent crude prices up 63%, the largest monthly increase in four decades. Bond markets sold off sharply as inflation fears resurfaced with Shell and BP, the UK's two oil majors, each rising over 30% in the month. The Fund holds no energy stocks due to the fund's ethical exclusion criteria, which was a material headwind given Shell and BP's combined weight of approximately 10% in the index.

The main detractors in the month were Unilever, Reckitt Benckiser and Howdens, all of which fell sharply as the same inflationary backdrop raised fresh concerns about consumer spending power. Unilever was further pressured by the announcement of the separation of its Foods business, which the market is still digesting. Our Financials holdings, including AJ Bell, were net contributors, benefiting from elevated market volatility which drives trading activity and revenues. Despite performing better in March, over the quarter as a whole, the digital and data holdings RELX, Experian, Amadeus and Sage, were the largest detractors. This is a theme we address in more detail in our recent newsletter, which sets out why we remain confident in these businesses at current valuations.

We have made no portfolio changes in direct response to the Iran conflict. In our experience, reacting to geopolitical events rarely serves long-term investors well. Our activity continues to be driven by valuations on a medium-term forward basis. Earlier in the year we were reducing Unilever as the shares had outperformed strongly. More recently, we trimmed CME Group on valuation grounds. We have also made a meaningful reduction to National Grid, where the shares have performed strongly since we supported the equity raise in June 2024 and now trade on historically high valuations. Selectively, we have been adding to digital names and Admiral, where we see attractive value.

It has been a difficult period for quality income strategies, caught between the sell-off in data businesses and the energy-driven rally. We take comfort from the Fund's valuation and the portfolio offers an earnings yield of over 6% and a dividend yield of c.3%, which is now comparable to the FTSE All-Share's dividend yield, from a diversified group of high-quality businesses. We remain focused on maintaining quality and diversification whilst maintaining our valuation discipline.
