April Commentary

Your Fund returned +2.0% during the month compared to +2.8% for the FTSE All-Share Index TR.

Iain Macleod, Conservative politician of the 1960s and 70s and briefly Chancellor of the Exchequer, had many 'bon mots' as an orator. He famously coined the word "Stagflation" back in 1965: "We now have the worst of both worlds – not just inflation on the one side or stagnation on the other, but both of them together. We have a sort of 'stagflation' situation and history in modern terms... is indeed being made." The war with Iran is nine weeks old and is showing signs of a stalemate. With oil pushing $125 a barrel, the ingredients for stagflation are clear - high prices, due to shortages in supply, stifle demand whilst driving inflation. Markets currently seem almost oblivious to the threat. Meanwhile, central bankers are not ignoring the rising risks but are expecting (or hoping) they will be transitory once again. Stock markets remain remarkably sanguine, but we would expect evidence of weaker economic growth and the risk of recession in the second half of the year unless a resolution to the conflict is reached.

Current corporate earnings have remained resilient, but much of Q1 occurred before the full effects of higher prices and weakening demand effects from the war were felt. Companies like Alphabet, Chubb, Hubbell and Microsoft have announced strong earnings. Chubb and Hubbell, two relatively new holdings in the Fund, were particularly reassuring. Chubb, the property and casualty insurer, saw double-digit growth in premiums written, investment income, underlying earnings per share, and book value per share. Management reiterated a full-year outlook for robust growth. Investment income remains healthy as Chubb continues to benefit from a higher yield environment. To date, management have impressed us in being prepared to aggressively step back from less profitable lines of business amidst a weaker underwriting environment, redirecting capital to better growth or share buybacks. Hubbell designs, manufactures, and sells electrical and connectivity components used by utilities and industrial customers to operate critical power infrastructure. The company is benefiting from increased capital expenditure on the U.S. grid, where there has been underinvestment for decades.

Important Information

Please refer to Troy's Glossary of Investment terms here. Fund performance data provided is calculated net of fees with income reinvested unless stated otherwise. All performance and income data is in relation to the stated share class, performance of other share classes may differ. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. Overseas investments may be affected by movements in currency exchange rates. The value of an investment and any income from it may fall as well as rise and investors may get back less than they invested. The historic yield reflects distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the fund's price, as at the date shown. It does not include any preliminary charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions. The UK Retail Prices Index (RPI) is a target benchmark for the fund as the Fund aims to achieve a return (the money made or lost on an investment) that is above the rate of inflation, reference to other benchmarks are for comparative purposes only. Tax legislation and the levels of relief from taxation can change at any time. Any change in the tax status of a Fund or in tax legislation could affect the value of the investments held by the Fund or its ability to provide returns to its investors. The tax treatment of an investment, and any dividends received, will depend on the individual circumstances of the investor and may be subject to change in the future. The yield is not guaranteed and will fluctuate. Any objective will be treated as a target only and should not be considered as an assurance or guarantee of performance of the Fund or any part of it. The Fund may use currency forward derivatives for the purpose of efficient portfolio management. The UK RPI figures shown are a combination of the actual rate of RPI, as calculated by the Office of National Statistics, and estimates for the previous month. Information on the risks of an investment in the fund can be found in the Prospectus.
